

One Page Summary

Introduction

I am G.Yoga Lakshmi ,a student enrolled in the 4th year of the Bachelor of Technology program in Computer Science and Engineering at KSRM College. My areas of expertise include programming languages such as C, Python, SQL, Web Development.

Internships And Projects

I have completed internships encompassing cyber security, web development, and data science. During my tenure focusing on web design and development, I crafted a website dedicated to providing courses for individuals interested in the field. Presently, I am engaged in a project centered around establishing a student activity club.

Why I am Here

I am seeking to acquire practical expertise in advanced technologies. With your guidance and support, I aim to expand my knowledge and skill set, enabling me to undertake projects that will significantly contribute to my career growth.